PURPOSE

This workshop is an overview of Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) and its affects on children from preschool to adulthood. Participants will learn methods to recognize individuals who may be at various points on the Spectrum. Additionally, a significant amount of time will be allotted to address questions that participants may have as they work with Spectrum individuals in varying situations.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- Define ASD
- Relate to characteristics of individuals with ASD
- Recount services that may be needed with ASD
- Understand the social implications of ASD

Audrey Shifflett, MA, CCC-SLP is the Lead Speech-Language pathologist at The Delaware Speech and Hearing Center. She earned her Master of Arts in Speech-Language Pathology from the University of Toledo.

Audrey has been working with the Rainbow Room, a program for preschool children on the Spectrum, for five years. In addition, she sees clients at the Delaware Center, the Powell Center, Grady Memorial Hospital, and runs a Parkinson's Speech Group.
